

ABOUT THIS — AND — ABOUT THAT

By OLIVER GEDEIST

WORMS.—Worms have their place in life. Lowly as they are, they are worth while. Born of the earth, they live in the earth—that is, until chickens, birds, or fishermen dig them up for their own purposes. We respect worms for what they are, and for the purposes which nature apparently had for them. There are human "worms" that merit no respect, get no respect, except among their own type, and they are so low that their "respect" has as much value as a rust-eaten tin whistle.

ANOTHER KIND.—By that is not meant those persons of slovenly mind who offend us; nor is meant the ordinary neighbor who annoys us; nor is meant the nuisance person whose presence no community ever escapes. These are an affliction upon the race—maybe as punishment for our unknown "sins." The "worm" walking on two legs, a smart "worm," bores into the body politic of countries and peoples willing to be friendly if the boring "worms" would desist.

COMMUNISTS.—Communists have no respect for any of the peoples or nations on the earth. They walk into their world neighbors' homes and commit nuisances which make them outcasts from the society of honorable people. Knowing nothing of respect, they have no feelings and wallow in their nastiness to the discomfort of other peoples. Advances they make are the result of weaknesses in others, and of futile opposition of others, and not to their own virtues or sagacity.

OPPOSITION.—Opposition consists largely of name-calling. Let's admit at once that the provocation to name-calling is deserved. The trouble is that name-calling alone does not suffice to offset the boring of communistic briers. And, since name-calling merely makes people mad, does it not seem that organized as well as individual opposition to the communistic monster should do a bit of analyzing and bring to us simple facts that will help all of us better to understand exactly the difference between communism and our way of living?

AN EXAMPLE.—Would it not be better for the moguls who fight communism in high-falutin' language to give specific information, over and over again, like this?—Under communism, the worker must work where he is told to work. Maybe a bricklayer is put into a factory to do work he never previously did, and in a community many hundreds of miles from his home and family. He is penalized if he fails to do as much work as more experienced labor. And his eating depends upon his ability to keep up with the experienced workers.

OR THIS.—You are reading views right here, perhaps, with which you do not agree. If not at this instant, there are times when you disagree with what you read in this column. That is your right as free men and women. You have the right to tell the editor to go to the hot place and roast (one reader told me that last week). Could you do that in Russia? Could you read ANYTHING you might want to read? No. Not in Russia. Not in the United States should communists secure control. You would read, as in Russia, only what the communist government wanted you to read. Could you hold open meetings and protest against scream out your dislike for the government's actions? Yes, you COULD. Democrats or Republicans? Could you—that is, if you wanted to leave this so-called "vale of tears," or if you wanted to spend the few short years that hard work in Siberian hell-holes would leave you. YOU CAN SCREAM AGAINST government here, you can join ANY UNION or any party you like, and you can make faces at public officials. You understand, of course, that this is YOUR PRIVILEGE here.

VOTING.—In Russia, or under communism here, could you vote for the candidate of your choice in an election? Since under communism only the government's candidates are on the ballot, you vote for them or merely against them. And, if you value your health and your family's welfare, you'd better vote the way Boss Stalin says. And, remember that under Boss Stalin's program, he would be boss here should communism get control here. The difference between our way and communism's way is simple: here we are FREE; under communism we would be SLAVES.

FREEDOM.—The American voter who wants to be a slave to communist slave drivers should not be condemned for voting for slavery—for himself. But not for others. That's freedom, however, to vote as he pleases. Under communism that right would perish. Our choice is between freedom and slavery. Freedom is the hope of high-minded characters. Desire for slavery marks one as at the bottom of the pit of degradation. Freedom exalts the spirit. Slavery destroys the spirit.

THE WORMS.—Sometimes worms masquerade under the guise of honest persons seeking to destroy the most precious things achieved by mankind in the long struggle of the race to rise above the mire—FREEDOM. Let's not permit the worms to destroy our precious possession.

Criticism of Clerk Brings Answer William T. Beagley Dies

JOSEPH H. HARTLEY SAYS BOARD OVERLOOKS LAW BINDING OFFICE

Salary Standards Are Much Higher Than Formerly

Will County Clerk Joseph H. Hartley recently was criticised by the county board of supervisors for exceeding appropriations made for the clerk's office by the board, as disclosed in a story in The News-Bulletin last week.

Mr. Hartley was called for his comment on the criticism made by the board, he said, although he stated that they seemed unfamiliar with the law controlling the office of the county clerk and clerk of court.

"They also seem to have overlooked a most important fact, a fact known to everybody," Mr. Hartley said, "and that is that costs have risen on everything, including pay for office workers."

The clerk then pointed out that only a few years ago girls could be hired for $16 a week, but with salaries in other fields running from $35 upward, the clerk's office must employ help at prevailing prices. "And," Mr. Hartley said, "the board failed to state that the laws of the State of Illinois make certain things mandatory on the county clerk."

Then he listed, among other things, the enormous job of registration, which includes tax lists and voters and constitutional amendments. One mailing alone, mandatory under the law, this year, required the mailing of 75,300 pieces, "and the board certainly could not expect the clerk's small force to do this extra work required by law without sufficient personnel to perform the task," Mr. Hartley said, "and we had to pay high prices for the extra help to do the work required by law."

Disinclined to enter into a controversy with the board of supervisors, the clerk stated that they seemed to be unmindful of the increasing heavy expenses involved by the law for the clerk's office, and that adequate provision for the growing community's demands upon the office had not been met by the board. As an example, he pointed out that great volumes of work must be done in the telephone office in the county building, amid constant interruptions, and that additional space allotted to the clerk's office would result in a substantial saving for taxpayers.

Another example cited by the clerk in connection with inadequate help was the fact that the clerk's counter-man worked through his vacation period, and that with the great volume of mailings and registrations this year the extra help hired could not produce efficiently in a public place.

"The law says I must do certain things, the board says I must not. I am guided by the law," the clerk added, continuing, "I am bonded, as the board knows. I was within the law in my expenditures. And at the beginning of my term it was necessary to borrow $5,000 to permit the office of the clerk to function."

Mr. Hartley cited statutory requirements for his office and detailed data relating to costs, too extensive for available space.

Reunion Group Set Fast Pace; Then Homeward

Life has been at a high tempo for the 13 brothers and sisters who last week had their first all-together reunion in many years in New Lenox—in the homes of Mrs. Charles O. Ellis and Mrs. F. Carlton Cole.

Following a Joliet hotel dinner Monday, the clan began to do things, and the children of the late Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Rollins kept up a lively pace until Sunday, when they began to leave the scene of several days of happiness for their separated homes.

Tuesday evening, the clan met at the Ellis home to greet New Lenox friends of the Ellises and the Coles, and Wednesday they appeared on "Welcome Travelers" show in Chicago, followed by lunch as guests of the sponsor of the show, and continuing as guests for the day, being later transported to Oleson and Johnson at Oriental theater, where they were back-stage observers of the show and the wheels that make the show. From the show they continued, as guests, to dinner at a smart Chicago eating house.

Thursday night the clan met at the home of one of the sisters, Mrs. J. E. Way, in Wheaton. With a streak of fast-stepping behind them, rest was put on the schedule until Sunday, when adieus were made and start was made by most of the clan for their homes in several different and distant states.

V-Eighters swept three games from last season's champion Robins to hold a two-game lead over the Oilers and Paerhangers.

The Mokena Oilers won their sixth straight game when they took three games from the Bankers. Charlie Burkhardt and Stan Williams must have fire in their eyes as they have been topping the pins in great form the last few games.

The Paerhangers beat the Smokers three games to remain tied with the Oilers in second place. Looks like the Smokers have gone up all in smoke since the first night, when the team was setting the league on fire.

Tinley Park Man Dies In Accident

Nels Axel Robinson, 43, of 17905 S. Harlem avenue, Tinley Park, was fatally injured yesterday (Wednesday) morning at 8:30 o'clock in an auto accident at 147th and Kedzie avenue. Gerner Adams of 3607 west 148th street was held in $10,000 bond for appearance at the inquest.

Mr. Robinson was reported as traveling north on Kedzie and failed to come to a complete stop at 147th street. The car driven by Mr. Adams, going west on 147th, hit the Robinson car in the middle on the right-hand side and rolled it over on to its left side. The car landed on the northeast corner of the street on top of Mr. Robinson, who fell out, the car falling on him.

Mr. and Mrs. Adams and a bystander lifted the car from Mr. Robinson, who crawled out from under the car, but died before the arrival of the ambulance.

The inquest was scheduled for this (Thursday) morning at 10 o'clock. Mr. Robinson and his wife had lived in Tinley Park for the past four or five years. There are no children.

Car Wrecked Rounding Curve

Two youths were scratched and bruised Saturday night when the car in which they were riding overturned while rounding a curve on Mokena road near the Lawrence Kohl farm.

The car was driven by Delmar Mather and his passenger was Allan Schmaedeke, both of Orland Park. The car was reported as wrecked.

A passing car took the youths to Mokena.

This was the second spill at this point in one week.

The maid of honor was the groom's sister, Miss Barbara Nemoyer, and bridesmaids were Mrs. Emily Dryman and Miss Lenore Rogal. Organist was Mrs. Mildred Maue. The bride's cousin, Mrs. Jean Dudley, was organist.

A wedding reception in St. Mary's hall followed the ceremony.

Sideswipes Car; Brings Injuries

Charles Hostert of Mokena is nursing cuts on his left forearm and scratches on his face as an aftermath of a sideswiping in which he was involved late last Saturday afternoon.

According to Mr. Hostert, he tried to pass a truck at Gougar's, near Washington street, east of Joliet, when he met an oncoming car driven by Murray Smith, president of the United Gas and Electric company, Aurora, the latter's car being sideswiped by the Hostert car, according to Mr. Hostert, whose Ford coupe is a total loss, he stated.

The Smith car was hit by a following car bearing a California license, but it went on without the occupants' names being secured, while the Smith car was towed to Joliet.

Arthur Benson of Mokena, passing shortly after the accident, took Mr. Hostert to Silver Cross hospital, where several stitches were taken in his arm and treatment administered for face scratches.

MISS AUGUSTA HANK BEATEN INTO UNCONSCIOUSNESS IN YARD

In Coma at Hospital, Condition Critical

Wounded on the head and unconscious, Miss Augusta Hank, 78, was found in the woodpile in the yard at her home Monday night. The home is on Homer township road.

When found, Miss Hank was only semiconscious. She was taken to Silver Cross hospital shortly after being found in the yard by Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Close of Lockport, who had called at the house to buy vegetables and eggs.

Sheriff's deputies have been investigating, but clues were not available and progress has been difficult, it was stated.

Dr. Elmer A. Albers of Lockport said examination disclosed that Miss Hank had been struck on the head with a blunt instrument. Scratches on her person indicated that she may have struggled with her assailant. The wounded woman has been unable to tell anything of the circumstances.

Miss Hank was attacked and severely beaten in March, 1936, by two men and a youth, who tied her and escaped with $7 after ransacking the house.

The Hank home, where she lives alone, is on a 40-acre farm about four miles east of Lockport in Homer township.

SCRIPTURE: Ecclesiastes.
DEVOTIONAL READING: Ecclesiastes 5:1-7.

Worthy Objectives

Lesson for September 28, 1947

THE Book of Ecclesiastes, written by Solomon, B. C. 977, is profitable in the fact that it discloses the findings of a very remarkable man on life.

Dr. Newton

Solomon tells us that he had tried every tempting offer of the world, but found it vanity. "Vanity of vanities, all is vanity," he declares.

Solomon is often referred to as the wisest of men. He does not make this claim, nor would I suggest it. As a matter of fact, Solomon was a very unwise man in many of the manifestations of his life. He had every advantage, but yielded to selfish pursuits of pleasure when he might have been serving his day and generation by the will of God.

Why do I point to Solomon as an unwise man? From his own testimony—"I gave my heart to know wisdom, and to know madness and folly; I perceived that this also is vexation of spirit. For in much wisdom is much grief; and he that increaseth knowledge increaseth sorrow."

Excellent Advice

EVEN so, Solomon was ready, by the time he wrote Ecclesiastes, to give some excellent advice. He had discovered that pomp and ceremony are meaningless—that they turn at last to ashes.

For example, "He (God) hath made everything beautiful in its time," chapter 3, verse 11. Solomon had dealt in the artificial. He had worn the most costly robes, lived in the finest palaces, had gardens set up to please any passing whim.

But now that he has come to see the vanity of men, he can at last open his eyes to the beauty which God creates. And now he has become a wise man, indeed. There is beauty everywhere if only we have eyes to see.

Words of Wisdom

THE next section of Sunday's lesson brings us to one of Solomon's greatest confessions. He says, chapter 3, verse 14: "I know that, whatsoever God doeth, it shall be forever; nothing can be put to it, nor anything taken from it; and God doeth it, that men should fear before him."

We do well to remember that God is, and that he is good, and that he is sovereign. "This is our Father's world," wrote Maltbie Babcock. Here is a truth for today. In our dismay over the atomic bomb, we are about to forget that God intended for man to discover atomic energy, and he expected man to have enough moral stamina to use this discovery for his good and God's glory.

Which brings us to the heart of the Preacher's message, chapter 12, verse 13: "Let us hear the conclusion of the whole matter; fear God, and keep his commandments; for this is the whole duty of man."

Seeking the Best in Life

SOLOMON, by his own testimony, missed much of the finer things of life; but he admonishes the reader to profit by his mistake and seek the best in life. For example, in chapter 2, verse 24, Solomon says: "There is nothing better for a man, than that he should eat and drink, and that he should make his soul enjoy good in his labour."

Every boy and girl in the world knows the joy of honest work, at least I hope so. Have you grown a beautiful flower? A vegetable garden? Cut a cord of firewood? Then you know that work is one of the essential ways of seeking the best in life.

Then Solomon comes to the first eight verses of the last chapter—a golden section for memory. It is one of the first passages of Scripture I ever learned. I trust every young person reading this column will commit that passage to memory, if you have not already done so.

Testing Life's Philosophies

SOLOMON concludes his confessions with this probing declaration: "For God shall bring every work into judgment, with every secret thing, whether it be good, or whether it be evil."

What is he saying? He is reminding us that whatever may be our philosophy of life, such philosophy, together with our commitments thereto, will be tested out under the white light of God's ultimate truth. My conclusion is that I desire but one thing—to find and follow the will of God, which is always right and always best.

Walls Can Make Room Cozy or Cold

Wall board of several colors was used to turn unfinished attic into an attractive room for a child. Scalloped border was cut from the board.

WALLS can change the whole appearance of a room. As a background they play up or detract from the furnishings—make them look cozy or cold, writes Tharen Petersen in nationally-circulated Capper's Farmer.

"Choose colors, textures and patterns that will do the most for your home," she advises homemaker readers of the well known farm magazine.

"For a warm, cheery atmosphere, you'll like walls covered with wood. If you hanker for modern, plywood is a possibility. For bathrooms or kitchen walls, take a look at plastic-coated wall paneling.

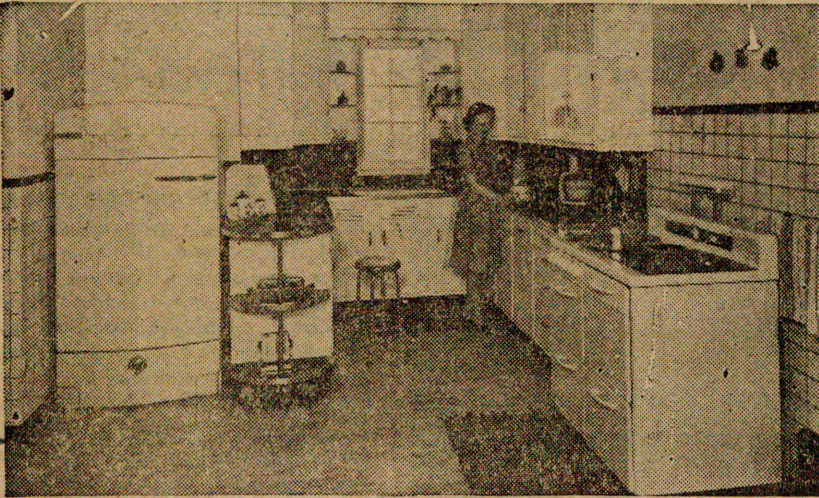

"Composition wall boards, usually made of wood fiber, come in various colors and sizes of panels. You can arrange them so the joints make vertical or horizontal lines, block or geometric designs. For a novel effect, use 2 colors together. Many of the wallboards insulate as well as decorate.

"For that clean, polished look in bathroom or kitchen, there's tile or tile-patterned board, in several colors.

"Wall linoleum is made with a tile pattern as well as in plain and variegated colors. Thinner than floor linoleum, it shapes to curved surfaces easily. It may be put on any sound, dry wall, around the tub and lavatory in the bathroom, and between the floor and wall cabinets in the kitchen."

Remodeling Erases Years From Old House

THIS cheerful, modern-equipped black, white and red kitchen with inlaid linoleum covering chromium-edged counter surface, is an example of what can be done to erase years from an old house by a smart remodeling job.

The Elmer Klever family did just that when Mr. Klever bought a farm in Scott county, Iowa, four years ago. Betty Lindsay points out in an article in Capper's Farmer, a leading farm magazine. The old-fashioned house was gloomy and run down. It had few conveniences.

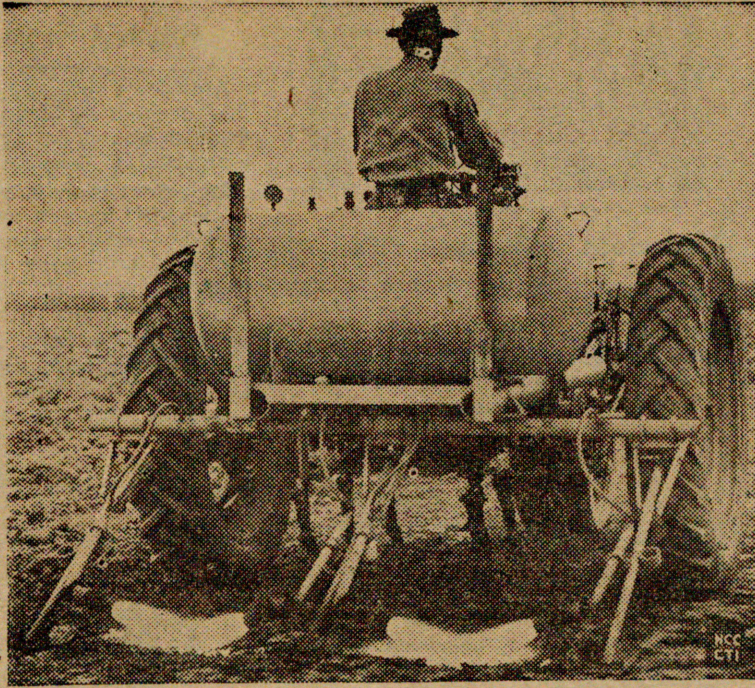

So mother and dad and the three children, Marilyn, Joan and Al made plans for modernizing the house. Soon carpenters were at work.

The kitchen is just one instance of what was done inside and out, Miss Lindsay tells the readers of the farm magazine that reaches 1,300,000 farm families. Off came three unused porches. White asbestos shingles masked the age of the exterior. Gay red shutters gave a streamline effect. By adding a dormer, wasted space over the living room was made into a bedroom. A hallway was built upstairs to save going through one room to get to another. Some windows were changed.

There was electricity in the house. So Klever installed a water system with a softener, making possible a new kitchen sink and a bathroom. A new furnace with stoker and blower was added. Modern materials pepped up the aged interior. The Klevers slipcovered and refinished old furniture so it would look better in new surroundings.

FLAME CULTIVATOR HELPS FARM WORKER

Mechanized cotton farming has brought the flame cultivator, which sears cotton's weed enemies and frees farm workers from the laborious task of cleaning out cotton rows in summer heat. With the harvester, it gives the cotton farmer invaluable assistance during the two peak labor periods of the cotton production cycle—the cultivation and harvesting phases.

A Notable Chalk Deposit.

Chalk is a soft white rock of the earth. A notable deposit of it is a ledge that can be followed from Austin, Texas, southwestward into Mexico for a distance of 600 miles. It averages about 600 feet in thickness.

The Associated Press was formed in 1848 and was composed of seven New York City papers.

Be Patient About Your Baby's Growth

IF YOU'RE concerned about how your baby is growing, just give him the best possible care and be patient, advises Beulah France in an article in Capper's Farmer, one of the leading farm magazines. He will develop only as rapidly as nature intends.

"How fast your baby grows depends on 2 things," she writes in the magazine read by 1,300,000 farm families. "One is heredity—traits he inherited from both sides of the family. The other is environment—baby's surroundings—which include the food he eats and the treatment he receives."

In the early months, once a week is often enough to weigh your baby, she says. Later, once a month will be sufficient. Baby usually doubles his birth weight in 6 months. At one year he should weigh about 3 times his birth weight.

Your baby may begin to sit alone for a moment or two at a time when he is 7 months old. But he must not be propped and left that way. He will sit without support and walk alone when his bones, nerves and muscles are ready for the effort. Between 12 and 18 months he will try to walk. By a year and a half he may be toddling. Between the ages of 2 and 3 he'll become an accomplished walker.

Some babies repeat a word or two as early as 10 months. But they generally don't know what they are saying. By a year, your child may call several things by name, including his father and mother. But do not expect a child to use phrases before he is 18 months old. Even babies of 2 years may not speak clearly.

"Don't use baby talk with your child," Miss France cautions. "Speak slowly, correctly, as you want him to speak when he grows up. It's unfair to teach a child a language he must later discard."

All Iowa's Eggs Are Not Confined to One Basket

WNU Features.

DES MOINES, IOWA.—If all the eggs laid in Iowa in one year were fried "sunny side up" and stitched together into a giant patchwork quilt, they would blanket an area eight times the size of the Chicago loop.

Known as "America's egg basket" because it ranks first in production of eggs, Iowa earned $119,105,000 from this product in 1945, latest year for which figures are available, according to a report compiled by the Iowa Development commission. In that year the state produced 4,327,000,000 eggs and grossed an income from eggs amounting to three times the gross income from all citrus fruit (lemons, oranges and grapefruit) produced that year in Texas.

Iowa produces 7 per cent of the nation's entire consumption of eggs, rated as one of the seven basic foods necessary to assure good health.

The state appears destined to lead all other states in production of this protein food for many years to come, the development commission maintains, pointing to Iowa's proper climate and enormous feed production possibilities as well as to the fact that producers are interested in exporting superior poultry and egg products.

Egg production in Iowa has encouraged considerable industrial development. Produce plants were organized in the state more than 60 years ago. With development of cold storage houses came introduction of refrigerator cars which deliver eggs in good condition to cold storage houses in various consuming centers. Iowa ships more eggs annually to Boston, Chicago, Philadelphia and New York, the four great egg markets of the country, than any other state.

Many of Iowa's eggs are reduced to liquid form, egg breaking plants having been established in 48 localities. Fourteen dried egg plants also are located in the state.

Trailing Iowa as top poultry states of the nation, on the basis of 1945 figures, are: Minnesota with 3,737,000,000 eggs produced, $107,557,000 gross income; Texas, 3,309,000,000 eggs produced, $94,084,000 gross income; Missouri, 2,890,000,000 eggs produced, $78,474,000 gross income; Ohio, 2,781,000,000 eggs produced, $88,306,000 gross income; Illinois, 2,757,000,000 eggs produced, $76,916,000 gross income, and Pennsylvania, 2,491,000,000 eggs produced, $93,526,000 gross income.

Old-Timers Tour East In Wheezing 1902 Car

PETERSBURG, VA.—"In their merry Oldsmobile," William A. Worth, 70, of Petersburg, and his sister, Eunice, 69, of New York, are making a 4,000-mile vacation tour of the East.

Their Oldsmobile, however, is an ancient 1902 model. It has only one cylinder, a lever for steering, and is devoid of top, sides or windshield. Operation costs, Worth figures, total a cent a mile.

Worth set out from his home here, picking up his sister in New York.

CHEEP! CHEEP! The feeble sound which these baby chicks emit is not representative of the egg output of Iowa, which ranks as the "egg basket of America." This picture, submitted by S. W. Lock of Mason City, Iowa, won honorable mention in the Greater Iowa photographic contest sponsored by Iowa Development commission at the state fair.

Pastor Preaches Sermon Without Saying a Word

MACON, GA.—One minister who admits that he preaches his sermons without saying a word is the Rev. James M. Johnston, 25-year-old assistant pastor of the Four-square Gospel church here.

He has inaugurated special services for the deaf and dumb members of the congregation, delivering regular Sunday sermons entirely through the standard hand signal alphabet.

The plan started one Sunday when Johnston noticed several deaf and dumb people in the congregation listening to the pastor preach. But they weren't hearing a word. Johnston stood beside the pastor, translating the sermon into hand signals.

Johnston admits the method has its drawbacks. When his congregation "sings" hymns, you can't hear them. You have to be content with seeing what they mean, he explains.

In some respects, Johnston feels, his mute congregation has it all over their brethren who can hear and talk. Using hand signals, Johnston says, he has three different ways to say "Praise the Lord" and three more ways to say "Hallelujah."

Opposition to Marshall Plan

IT is probable that Russia today has greater natural resources than any other nation on earth. She has vast quantities of coal, iron, oil and many of the other things that can make for armed might and the production of commodities that meet the needs of men. She has the land to yield food crops in vast quantities. The one thing she is now short of is the human know how.

With the United States and Russia working together, with other nations that were devastated by war supplying such things, and such amounts of which each is capable, the remaking of a suffering world would be a comparatively simple job.

It is greed, hate and selfishness that prevent such an accomplishment. Russia attempts to make of the present chaotic conditions a foundation on which to expand her ideologies; to create a world dominated by Russian-controlled Communism. By foul means she has succeeded, insofar as surrounding nations are concerned. She dominates the governments of the Balkan states. Regardless of the wishes of the people of those nations, their governments support Russian policies.

Western Europe and the United States still can dominate the world if we can work with a united western Europe. Will hate, greed and selfishness prevent that result?

SELFISH FRANCE

The outstanding evidence of greed, hate and selfishness is found in France. She, of the nations of western Europe, is least willing to do her part for the general good, and demands the greater share of the contributions of others. Russia plays on that attitude of France. Russia knows the "gimme" proclivities of the French people. France easily can turn to Communism if her demands are not met.

Secretary Marshall's greatest task is finding a way to control the greed, the hate, the selfishness that actuate France; to cause France to pull her full share of the load of rebuilding; to give as well as to take in the general effort. Those three elements—greed, hate, selfishness—are responsible for the French attitude toward the American policy for Germany, that would give the Germans a chance again to become self supporting.

Without a strict observance of all the conditions laid down by Secretary Marshall it would be best for us, and for the future of civilization, that the United States keep out; that we keep our powder dry; and our resources intact.

England Will Recover

The American people are greatly interested in the survival of England. We fully realize her value as a strong and prosperous nation to us and to all free people. We evidenced our desire for her survival by advancing nearly four billion dollars to aid in her recovery from the terrific effect of the war on her production, her economy and her leadership. That four billion dollars has been spent in fruitless experiments and in supporting the British political party now in power. While we are willing to aid England, we are not willing to finance the experiments in national socialism being made by the British Labor party. We are not at all concerned as to what party governs England. We are concerned about the frittering away of the American dollars that we gave to aid in England's recovery, but which were used to finance an ill-timed experiment in national socialism. Without additional financial support from the United States, the British Labor party government will fall. That does not mean that England will fall. The passing of the Labor government could be of greater value than additional American dollars.

Congress proposes that TVA pay back to the federal government the many millions of the people's money invested in that vast enterprise. If TVA paid only a reasonable rate of interest on that investment, and also the same sum in taxes as would be assessed if privately owned, the price of electricity it supplies would go skyward. Without such expense items any comparison of selling prices with those of privately owned plants are entirely unfair to the buyers of electricity. The people are paying TVA interest and taxes.

I heard a speaker quote former Vice Pres. Tom Marshall's famous quip: "What we need is a good five cent cigar." To that the speaker added: "What we need most is a good five cent nickel." A five-cent-value nickel would solve many of our problems.

We need houses, millions of houses, but they must be sold at a price the people who need them most can pay. Few can afford the $10,000 to $20,000 now being asked.

Jenny Lind's Concert Tour Created Greatest Furor

America's greatest furor was that created by Jenny Lind, the Swedish singer, during her concert tour (1850-1852) says Collier's.

Its extent is indicated by a collection of Lindiana owned by the New York Historical society which contains, among its thousands of items, scores of the countless articles on which her name and portrait were used as a trademark or decoration, such as bonnets, beds, whiskies, wallpapers and even men's fancy vest buttons.

SEVENTEEN THOUSAND DOLLARS from 50 acres of single cross hybrid seed corn! That was one of the accomplishments last year of Champion Farmer John J. Gannon and his father, William P. Gannon, on their 785-acre farm near Valeria, Iowa. Hog sales totaled over 400 head. In a recent month, 16 purebred Guernsey cows, three of them dry, returned $504.78 over feed costs. Seventy head of purebred Aberdeen-Angus cows, and their calves, provide a profitable outlet for roughage. So does a flock of sheep. The Gannons bale 7000 bales of hay annually. Careful pasture management, manure and commercial fertilizers, and a soil conservation program keep the farm highly productive. For economy and efficiency in operating their farm equipment, Champion Farmer Gannon has found it pays to depend on Firestone tires. When he and his father buy new tractors, they specify Firestone Champion Ground Grips. In the photograph, Shelia Ann Gannon with her grandfather, William P. Gannon, and her father, Champion Farmer John J. Gannon.

Champion Farmers Specify Firestone CHAMPION GROUND GRIPS

TO GET extra pulling power... longer tire life... and smoother riding, Champion Farmer John J. Gannon and his father specified Firestone Champion Ground Grips for their new tractor.

Tests show that Firestone Champion Ground Grips clean up to 100% more effectively, pull up to 62% more, last up to 91% longer, and roll smoother over highways than any other tractor tires. . . important facts to cost-conscious farmers.

Only Firestone Champion Ground Grips are made with connected curved traction bars. These bars clean with a plowlike action . . . giving the Champions more pulling power. Extra tread rubber in the bar connections gives them a "Center Bite" in the heart of the traction zone. This, too, means more pulling power. The extra rubber in the connected tread increases tire strength . . . lengthens tire life . . . money-saving points you can't overlook when you buy new tractor tires. So when you buy . . . buy the best . . . buy Firestone Champion Ground Grips.

Sidewalk Cattlemen Get Boot Privileges

SWEETWATER, TEX.—Unique boot privileges are enjoyed by members of the newly-organized West Texas Sidewalk Cattlemen's association.

Rules of the association allow the owner of at least two head of cattle to wear boots; the owner of three head of cattle may stuff the right leg of his pants in the top of his boot; and the owner of four head may stuff both pants legs in his boots, and the owner of six head may wear spurs.

Any infraction of the rules requires that the violator buy drinks for everybody within yelling distance.

The club, it is explained by its organizer, Ocie Hunt, is designed to acquaint members all over the United States and in some foreign countries with the west Texas style of humor.

Alvin Kohl Loses Fingers in Accident

Alvin Kohl of Frankfort township, Alpine area, had four fingers amputated from his left hand yesterday (Wednesday) at Silver Cross hospital.

Amputation was the result of an accident on the farm of Herman Schilling, Tinley Park, where, it was stated, Mr. Kohl was working with an ensilage chopper. It was believed that he reached into the machine to pull something out, when his hand was caught and badly mangled.

At Silver Cross hospital it was said that Mr. Kohl would remain there for a short time.

Celebrating their 25th wedding anniversary, Dr. and Mrs. W. V. Hedges, of Frankfort, have announced an open house for the occasion, Thursday October 2.

Invitations are unnecessary, Mrs. Hedges stated, since the celebration will be open house. Hours: 2 to 4 in the afternoon and 7 to 9 in the evening.

Outlook for Canning Jars and Supplies Bright This Year

Styles change usually for no good reason except that we women get tired of things, often for no good reason. Our grandmothers were different. When they liked some thing, they used it until it wore out and they had some things which didn't wear out. That is why so many of you can boast of owning Mason Fruit Jars which your great-grandmother took with her in the covered wagon when Granddad accepted the advice, "Go West, young man." You, of course, treasure those old jars even though they have no special cash value, and you have found their streamlined descendants dependable, but you may have decided that you would like to see how a different style jar and cap becomes the food you plan to put up this season.

Supplies Plentiful

Supplies of jars and caps should be plentiful for the first time in four years. Nobody is offering revolutionary designs but Gladys Kimbrough, Home Service Director for Ball Brothers Company, which made Mason Jars for your grandmother, has been telling us about a two-piece metal Vacu-Seal cap with dome-shaped white enamel-lined lid. It seems that the domed lids "tell you" when they are sealed. (They click when vacuum pulls them down.) However, before deciding to adopt this style cap, you should check your jars because all brands of two-piece metal caps seal on the top of the jar and won't work unless the finish of that top is perfect. The flexibility of the metal lid and the pliancy of the sealing compound permit two-piece metal caps to be self-venting. This is why the bands are tightened before the jars are put into a canner for processing and should not be tightened again. The bands are taken off the jars the next day after the canning is done and left off. Bands are not bought every time new lids are needed as lids are sold in packages of one dozen. The same is true of complete caps (lid and band).

The Glass Top Seal (glass lid, metal band, and rubber ring "war baby") is still with us but not in huge quantities. When using Glass Top Seals, care must be taken to leave the metal bands loose during processing, otherwise too much pressure may build up in the jars and cause breakage or even explosion.

Nothing seems so much in vogue at the moment as the time-tested one-piece zinc cap with white liner. This trend may be a style revival but we think it more likely due to the fact that zinc caps could not be made during the war and that "the water war" missed until the well ran dry.

Wide-Mouth Jars Back

Wide-mouth Mason jars are back on the market. Here the choice of caps is between one-piece zinc and two-piece metal Vacu-Seal.

The usual quantity of all-glass lightning type jars—the ones with glass lid held in place with wires—will be available. These jars, always high-fashion in the Eastern states, come in both standard and wide mouth.

All jars with standard opening are being made in half-pint, pint, quart, and half-gallon sizes. Wide-mouth jars are in the same sizes except there are no half-pints—never were.

When buying new jars, Miss Kimbrough advises that, when possible, one select the style preferred but buy pints for corn, peas, lima beans and meats, quarts for other vegetables and fruits, half-pints for marmalades, jams, etc. and for baby foods. Half-gallons are nice for pickles; large families may need them for fruits too, but it is far better to use smaller jars when preserving vegetables and meats, because they are easier to process enough to prevent spoilage.

Tell Your Dealer

Although all jars of standard style and size are being made, it may not be possible to find each style and size in every market. This is because dealers have learned what sells best in their trade territories. Transportation charges are so high on less than carload shipments of glass that even if manufacturers were organized to sell direct to the consumer, the cost of a few dozen jars would necessarily be dear, but any enterprising woman can usually persuade her dealer to arrange with a wholesale house to include what she wants when he places an order for a car of jars. Naturally this cannot be last minute business, so if you want an "exclusive style," the retailer should be told about it weeks, in fact months, in advance. It pays to buy home canning supplies when the dealer first puts them out, as it is a time-wasting nuisance to have to stop in the midst of canning to go to the store for jars, caps, or rubbers.

The rubber story is about the same as it was last year. The best ones are red and all are synthetic, but don't let that worry you because synthetic rings seal as well as those in which natural rubber is used.

All in all, the jar and cap outlook is bright. All styles are good. If you buy a nationally known brand and use it according to the manufacturer's instructions, you can put up your quota of fruits, vegetables, and meats, with the assurance of sealing satisfaction.

"GREATEST PROBLEM" FOR THE U. S.

The Semmler Newspapers present here the third of a series of discussions by members of the U. S. Congress relating to problems before the people of the United States, by courtesy of Cosmopolitan magazine.

Major problem facing the United States is the atom and its control in the opinion of Republican Representative Donald L. Jackson, of California, above, who is quoted in the July issue of Cosmopolitan magazine as saying: "The atom and its control dwarfs all other problems. Great clouds of flame, smoke and debris over New Mexico, Hiroshima, Nagasaki and Bikini formed the question for all civilization to answer. We can pass through one of two doors—leading the world to either a day of enlightenment or a day of stark disaster. An atomic-bomb race may well well finish to our civilization. We cannot enter upon a mutual suicide pact with the other nations of the earth, nor can we, in the present state of unrest, cede our deadly knowledge without assurance that the atom will be made the servant of mankind—not its master."

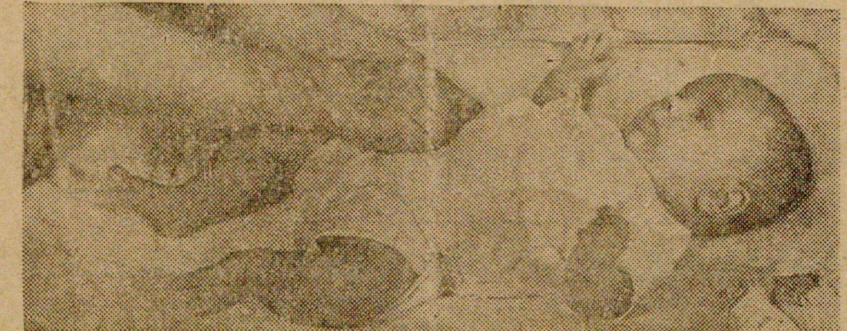

Major problem facing the United States is that of production of goods and services in the opinion of Democratic Senator Walter F. George of Georgia, above, who is quoted in the July issue of Cosmopolitan magazine as saying: "Our most urgent problem is whether management and labor can realize that our only salvation is to produce here the goods and services needed not only by our own people but also by all the peoples of the world. That means an agreement whereby production can be carried on without interruption until peace and the world economy are restored. This cannot be done through legislative action, although some remedies of abuses may be enacted. Such an agreement is fundamental. It will shape our own salvation and determine whether the world is going to pot."

Royal Neighbors Meet October 3

Royal Neighbors of Frankfort have changed the October 2 meeting date, it was announced this week.

Instead of meeting Thursday, October 2, the date has been set for Friday, October 3, village hall.

YOUNG mothers receiving gifts for their new babies, plead for those that are practical, according to Catherine Tidemanson in an article in nationally circulated Capper's Farmer.

"Too often gifts are chosen because they are clever and cute," she writes in the magazine read by 1,300,000 farm families.

"Mothers appreciate gifts of shirts, nighties and suits of clothing in 1- to 3-year-old size that the child can grow into. Also useful are simple, durable toys that can be boiled. Sterilizers and bottle-warmers and blankets are especially practical.

"In the furniture line for babies, one of the popular new pieces is a high chair which can be converted into a small playpen.

"Homemade gifts for the new baby add a special touch. Even if you're a beginning knitter, tiny infant clothing will be easy to make."

Eight members of the Mokena Boy Scout troop will attend the Northwestern-Vanderbilt football game Saturday. They will be Steward Shoop, Harold Homering, Russell Geuther, James Needham, Roy Carlson, Frederick Rauck, Jack Martie, and Warren Nelson. They will go with two of the troop committeemen.

Among other gift suggestions for the baby which mothers have found practical, she adds, are rubber pants, sleepers, sweaters for the child to grow into. Custard cups for heating food, funnels, glass cups or pint measuring cups marked in ounces, juice squeezers, small strainers and tongs will help mother in the kitchen.

Toys may not be useful at first, but the child soon will be old enough to appreciate them. Teething rings, beads, waterproof soft balls, wooden cymbals and rattles are nice gifts. When buying toys, the writer admonishes, take care there are no sharp corners or removable parts that could cause injury to the child.

The time of the year the child is born should always be considered in selecting the most appropriate gifts, the writer concludes.

Reunion

The annual reunion of the late Nicholas Marti, Sr., was held Sunday, Sept. 21, at Pilcher park in the Boy Scout cabin with twenty-five members present.

The prize for the oldest man present went to William G. Lowe and the oldest lady present was Mrs. William Lowe. The youngest boy was David Kwarta and the youngest girl was Bette Lowe Doctor.

The retiring president was Milton C. Woodrick of Nashville, Tenn.

The incoming officers were president, Donald Maue of Orland Park, secretary, Ruth C. Doctor of Mokena, and treasurer, Frank Aspel of Joliet.

Annual Supper

The Women's Guild of St. John's church in Mokena will serve the annual supper next Wednesday, October 1. The annual supper always attracts many from distant places to meet friends and relatives who are not seen often, the pastor, the Rev. William J. Reimann, stated.

Cheese Ring Pleases Family's Eye and Palate

Give a salad a chance to star and it will, writes the Country Cooking Editor of Capper's Farmer, one of the leading farm magazines.

"This savory cheese ring, garnished with watercress, will please everyone's eye and palate," she points out in the magazine read by 1,300,000 farm families. "What's more, it is easily converted into a hearty main dish. Just add shrimp or tuna to the original recipe, or fill the center with a medley of fresh fruits."

SAVORY CHEESE RING

- 1 tsp. unflavored gelatin
- 1/2 c. cold water
- 1 tsp. sugar
- 2 tsp. lemon juice
- 1 tsp. salt
- 1 tsp. vinegar
- 1 pt. cottage cheese
- 1 c. evaporated milk
- 2 tsp. chopped pimiento
- 2 tsp. chopped green pepper
- 2 tsp. chopped parsley
- 2 tsp. minced onion
- 1/2 c. diced celery

Soften gelatin in cold water, then dissolve over hot water in double boiler. Add sugar, lemon juice, salt and vinegar. Blend cheese with milk; add to gelatin mixture. Chill until mixture begins to set, then fold in vegetables. Rinse ring mold with cold water, then pour in cheese mixture. Chill until set. Unmold, serve with Cooked Salad Dressing. Serves 4.

'Extension Minister' Works to Strengthen Country Churches

THE nation's first "Extension Minister"—Rev. Gene W. Wetherell—operating much like the average extension specialist from the state agricultural college, is now on the job in Missouri carrying on a "Down-to-earth" program designed to strengthen the struggling churches of the country, according to Lloyd D. Miller, writing in nationally circulated Capper's Farmer.

Employed by the Bible College of Missouri, at Columbia, Mo., the Reverend Wetherell is working closely with extension people from the state college of agriculture, Mr.

Miller points out. He goes into communities to help the people get a church program started. He carries his program out into the field and sets up demonstrations so that people can see how it actually works.

Reared on a farm, Reverend Wetherell studied for the ministry on funds he earned farming.

Wherever participating churches are located, Reverend Wetherell helps local leaders make a thorough survey of community needs. He next develops a loyalty program, seeking to get every member actively interested in church work. He institutes a visitation evangelism program in churches where denominations use this type of work.

A sound financial program is necessary for the successful operation of any church, so the "Extension Minister" asks his church to develop a unified budget system. He shows them how to use the Lord's Acre for supporting special projects of the church. He also suggests that churches provide their ministers with a rural parsonage and 20 acres or more where they may make part of their living.

Youth Meets Age Again on Sunday

The Mokena Robins will end their 1947 softball season by playing a return match with the "Old Timers" of 1935, Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. In their previous contest, youth surpassed age in every respect, winning 14 to 7. Brighter things are promised by the contenders when they meet the Robins Sunday.

The Robins' record for the season as of date stands at 18 wins to 10 defeats.

Firemen Lose to Regulars

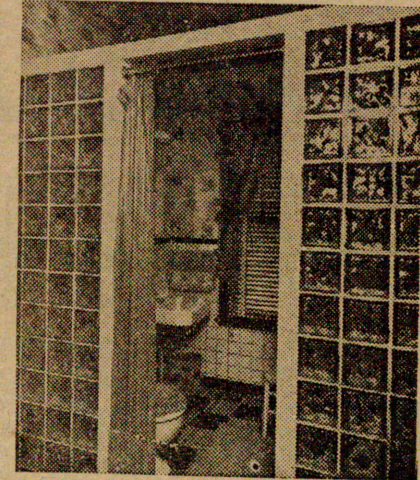

Frankfort firemen recently completed a successful baseball season, with the final game being a loss after trouncing a group of regulars until the seventh inning. Then the regulars took over and the valiant efforts of the firemen were not equal to the professionals.

Glass Bricks, Chrome Modernize Bathroom

GLASS bricks, black and white tileboard and shiny chrome trimmings can help modernize rooms in even the oldest farm house, points out the Rural Home Editor of Capper's Farmer, one of the best known farm magazines.

Here a glass brick wall separates the bathroom from a small powder room adjoining. Plastic curtains repeat the green in the wallpaper.

Both bathroom and powder room were part of a remodeling job that transformed an old-fashioned farm home into an up-to-the-minute residence, giving the family the most modern conveniences.

Lengthening Skirts

If hem creases are a problem when you lengthen skirts this fall, try steam-pressing, advises the Rural Home editor of nationally circulated Capper's Farmer. Press lightweight wool on the wrong side; a thick wool on the right side, she tells the readers of the farm magazine reaching 1,300,000 families.

In each succeeding year it more clearly appears that our democratic principle needs no apology.—Grover Cleveland.

CAN FRUITS FOR DELICIOUS DESSERTS

Whether your canned fruit desserts are just or unjust depends upon the quality and flavor of the fruit. Canning preserves quality and flavor but it cannot create it. That's Mother Nature's job but you may be surprised at the amount of help you can give her.

All fruits (except pears) should be left on the tree, vine, or bush until full-ripe and then canned as promptly as possible.

Most varieties of pears should be taken from the tree when they have finished growing and kept in a cool place until they are ripe enough to serve raw. At this stage they are tender and juicy but not mellow.

It pays to take time to sort fruit so that pieces of about the same size and color can be kept together. Then the pie or fruit-cup pieces won't be mixed with those intended for fancy looking desserts. Every piece of fruit should be washed carefully and drained well before the skin is broken. Skins should be removed from peaches, pears and apricots. Yes, the skin can be left on but it is impossible to have both skins and top quality. Stones may be left in peaches and ripe apricots, not that we understand why anybody would want them, but woe is more than likely to be the lot of the home canner who leaves stones in apricots which have been taken from the tree before fully ripe. Such apricots have a poor flavor at best and the green stones make it even poorer.

But we are going too fast! Let's remember that flavor is lost with every minute lost between the time the fruit is washed and the time it is put into the canner for processing. Therefore, all jars, caps, lids, and rubbers should be checked, washed, rinsed, covered with water and put over heat to sterilize; water should also be put to heat in whatever is used as a water bath canner, and all utensils and materials collected before work is started on preparing the fruit.

Corn Sirup for Sweetening
The sweetening story is still a little on the sour side. It can be no news to you that it may not be possible to buy all the granulated sugar you would like to have, but shortage of the cane and beet sugars need not halt your fruit canning program because corn sirup can take over where these granulated sugars leave off, and a lot of people think the fruit better when corn sirup helps out. Gladys Kimbrough, Home Service Director for Ball Brothers Company and editor of the famous Ball Blue Book of Home Canning and Preserving Recipes, gives a basic sirup recipe which may be adjusted to meet your requirements. The sirup is made by combining two cups sugar, one cup standard grade corn sirup, one cup water or fruit juice, and boiling about two minutes or until the sugar dissolves. Either light or dark corn sirup may be used. The dark sirup is especially good with dark fruits. Its flavor blends nicely with light fruits too, but it tends to add color where color may not be wanted.

Miss Kimbrough recommends that, when possible, some sugar be used when putting up fruit because the flavor of sweetened fruit is more acceptable to most persons but she also makes it quite clear that fruit will keep without sugar. When no sugar is used, the fruit should be heated in a little water or in its own juice before it is put into the jars. Whether canned with or without sugar, fruit should be covered with liquid in the jar, otherwise it is likely to discolor.

Miss Kimbrough advises home canners to sweeten and flavor sirups to suit themselves. If you would like more flavor in your peaches or pears, you might try adding a half teaspoon vanilla or orange, or nutmeg, or rum, or a few drops of almond extract to each quart of fruit. In other words, you are free to make the things you put up at home taste like you want them to taste and that is something nobody else will or can do for you.

Up-to-date canners heat fruit enough to shrink it before it is placed in the jars for processing by boiling in a hot water bath canner. This is called hot packing. The fruit may be heated in its own juice or in sirup. One excellent way is to measure the prepared fruit, add the sugar to it, and heat gently until the juice runs free and the sugar is dissolved. Two cups sugar and one cup corn sirup will sweeten a gallon of prepared peaches enough to suit the average taste. If the peaches are juicy, no water need be added. Pears can usually get along with a little less sugar than peaches call for but they nearly always need some water to start them cooking.

Processing time varies according to the size, variety, and firmness of fruit but the average time for peaches, pears, and apricots, which have been thoroughly heated before packing, is fifteen minutes at boiling. Even if fruits keep, they will discolor if for any reason they have not been heated boiling hot all the way through.

If you will begin with good home-canned fruits, you can end with wonderful desserts which are just as bother at all to make. For example, Peaches and Cream Cake is a fitting finish for any meal. All you do is make or buy a plain angel food or sponge cake, frost it thick with sweetened whipped cream and surround it with halves of tree-ripened free-stone peaches right out of your own jars. This cake should be served at the table because it is far too handsome to be cut in the kitchen.

George Hendrickson one day, and on returning stopped at the Cleveland home again when the Schudts joined them and all returned to Mokena.

Mr. August Hauck who has been ill in his home was removed to Silver Cross hospital last Wednesday.

Mrs. Emma Schmidt underwent surgery in Silver Cross hospital last week.

Mrs. Dorothea Roesener is enjoying a two weeks vacation in her home. She is expecting the return of her son John next month. John has been in the service 18 months. He is in Seoul, Korea.

Sunday September 22, Mrs. Jarome Daugherty and Mrs. John G. Bettenhausen gave a dinner in the Daugherty home in honor of their father, Konrad Bormet who celebrated his 75th birthday, September 19. Guests were his children, grand children, great grand children, relatives and friends. All had a pleasant time.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Mason of Midlothian and Mr. and Mrs. Norman Bettenhausen and son have returned from visiting relatives in Glenwood City, Wis. They also spent two days at the Dells, and report the weather was cool.

A nuptial service was read last Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the Methodist church here for the former Dorothy Belle Wanzer of New Lenox and Merle Nickle of Joliet. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Wanzer, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Nickle, 843 Hill street, Joliet.

The Rev. Ralph L. Miller officiated at the candlelight double-ring ceremony before an altar decorated with tall baskets holding peach and white gladioli, and baby breath.

As the bridal party approached the altar, Mrs. Howard Ayres, organist, played the wedding march, she also played wedding music preceding the ceremony followed by "Mendelssohn's Reformation" after the ceremony. The bride was given away by her father. She wore a dressmaker suit of powder-blue gabardine, small black hat with veil, and other black accessories. Her corsage was of white carnations.

Maid of honor was Miss Betty Stevens, friend of the bride. She wore a grey gabardine dressmaker suit, with black accessories, and wore a corsage of peach gladioli. Peter Rosich of Joliet, friend of the groom, acted as best man.

A reception in the church parlors followed the ceremony and was attended by approximately 75 friends and relatives. A white linen cloth covered the table from which they served. The four-tiered wedding cake was topped with a miniature bride and groom. Assisting with the serving were three friends of the bride from Chicago, Mrs. Carolyn Elliott, Miss Beatrice Markowitz, and Miss Lorraine Willis. For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Wanzer was attired in a navy blue suit and wore a corsage of gold gladioli. The bridegroom's mother wore aqua crepe with black accessories and a corsage of red gladioli.

The couple will reside in Joliet for the present. Both are employed in Chicago. Guests were present from New Lenox, Joliet, Chicago, and Mapleton, Iowa.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

We All Need Fun!

Nobody in Our Town is exactly lazy (even though Pete Swanson's missus claims he sleeps till seven A.M.). But the hardest working man of all is Doc Hollister—on call, morning, noon and night.

Funny thing, Doc's favorite prescription to his patients is: You ought to have fun. The pace of modern living, even on the farm, demands some relaxation.

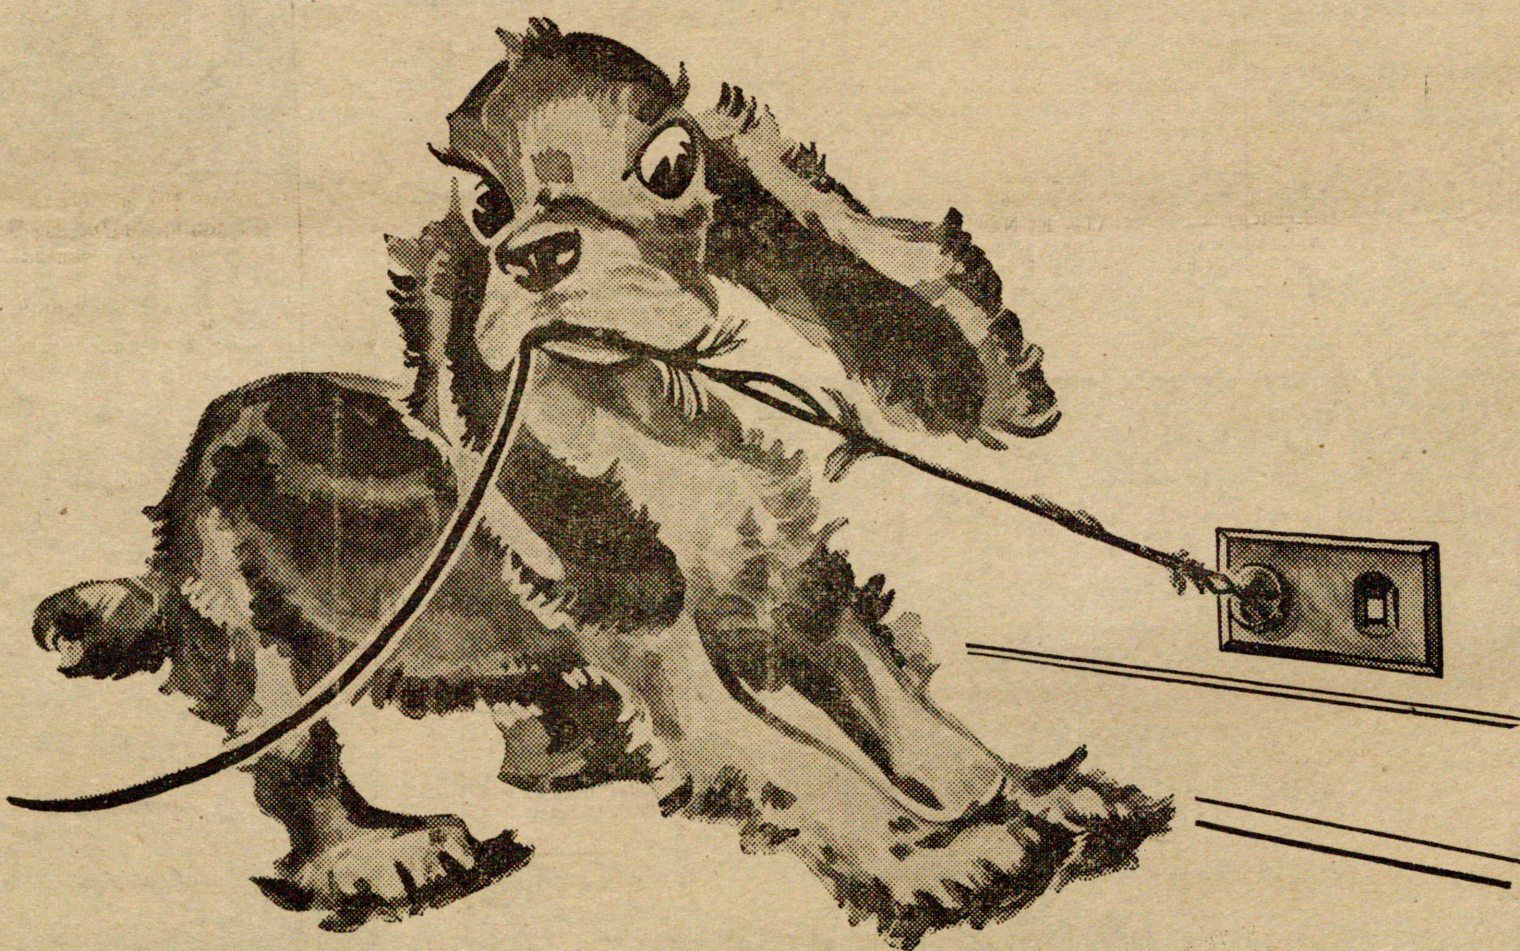

And as Doc says—fun is a personal thing. For the missus it may mean a movie or a good book; for Dad, a mellow and refreshing glass of beer; and for the kids, parcheesi or the radio. Doesn't mean everybody has to like the same thing—so long as they relax, have fun, together, in the home.

Doc doesn't have much time himself. After a hard day, he'll relax before the fire with a glass of beer—and wait for the phone to ring again. And from where I sit, Doc deserves each well-earned minute of that relaxation.

Replace FRAYED Cords NOW!

Puppies aren't the only ones who can harm themselves with worn-out electric cords. The entire family, from infants to adults, are endangered by worn-out wiring.

Exposed wires are often the cause of blown fuses, wasted electricity and short circuits. Check your home for this common hazard and eliminate it.

Safe, adequate wiring is again possible after wartime shortages.

You no longer have to "get by" with makeshift, inferior wiring—replace every frayed cord with a new one today. Educate each member of the family in this elementary safety rule—never yank an electric cord—handle only the plug when disconnecting from a wall socket.

CHOICE is the keynote of today's career

Would you go to Europe, Japan or Korea?

Or would you stay near home? Any man who has had prior service in the Armed Forces may elect to do any of these things if he enlists in the Army now for 3 years or more. He can choose to be assigned directly to duty in Europe or with one of five famous Infantry divisions in the Far East. Or he may choose to be stationed near home for the first full year of his enlistment (where there are vacancies). Men with or without prior service may choose one of the famous combat divisions in Japan or Korea.

Would you select a career in aviation?

This you can do, and be guaranteed the training you choose before you enlist! Only requirements beyond regular physical and mental examinations are that you be a high school graduate, or that you are in the Air Force and can qualify. It's today's great opportunity to write your own ticket in the Air Force.

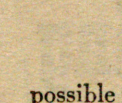

Would you want to learn to fly? If you are single, 20 to 26 1/2, and have had two or more years of college education or the equivalent, you can become an Aviation Cadet with the U. S. Air Force. Nowhere else can you get better training, for nowhere else is aviation advancing as fast or as far as in our own Air Force.

Would you go to a leadership school?

If you have qualities of leadership, would you want to develop them to their fullest? U. S. Army Leadership Schools are now selecting likely candidates from servicemen to take these valuable courses.

The Army and Air Force are doing everything possible today to help each individual develop along the lines that he picks for himself. Army and Air Force training is thorough and take-home pay is better than most civilian jobs. Opportunities for advancement are wide open to every man in uniform. Make your choice today at your U. S. Army and Air Force Recruiting Station.

Feeding Hungry Millions Overseas to Require Bumper '47 Crops in Illinois

Plant Food Makes Possible Crops Like This.

CHICAGO.—Stressing that there are still "millions of hungry mouths to be fed overseas," the Middle West Soil Improvement Committee urged farmers to make early arrangements for their 1947 fertilizer supplies, so that a continuance of high crop outputs may be assured.

"This means that farmers must prepare their soils for another all-out crop producing job in 1947."

Uncle Sam Says

All of us would like to put dad on a pedestal on Father's Day to show him how we feel about him the year round. I like to think of all American fathers in the role of Minute Men, standing guard over the security of their families. Certainly they could do no better than to assure the happiness of themselves and their homes than by buying United States Savings Bonds regularly.

Two automatic bond buying plans are available now. If dad is on a payroll, the Payroll Savings Plan will assure him days of ease when he gets ready to retire. If dad is a professional man or self-employed, he can use his checking account to buy a bond a month.
